Gentlemen,

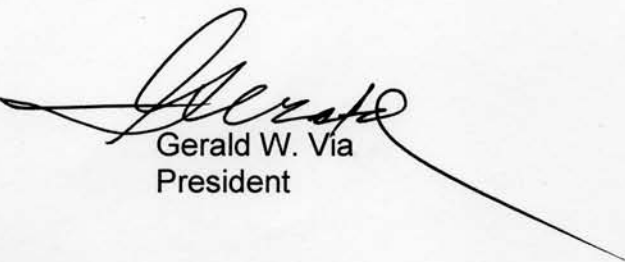

The Jubal A. Early Preservation Trust would like to thank you and express its appreciation to all the members of 14th Virginia Cavalry, Company H who attended and participated in our open house commemorating the completion of stage one reconstruction of this historic property.

The presence of your re-enactors in period uniforms with authentic accoutrements and period tack for their horses added realism to the interpretation of General Early's home.

I am sure that you could sense the crowd's interest in the history of your cavalry unit and the history of the house as they dialogued with you. It was a hands-on educational experience for them to see and talk with your re-enactors. With your members staying in character, they brought the 1860s period to life for people who perhaps may have only briefly read about the War Between the States in school.

Again thank you for donating your time, the expense of outfitting yourselves and your horses along with the cost of transporting your cavalry horses to our event. If the Jubal A. Early Preservation Trust can render a similar historical educational service in return someday, please call upon us.

With best regards,

Gerald W. Via
